THE RAILROADS.

Thirty-Seven Families Heading for the Panhandle.

Henrietta confident of securing the Rock Island—A Tap to be built from Bowie to the Coal Mines—Personal.

Home Notes.

J. R. Merrifield, the good looking Ohio and Mississippi rustler, was in Fort Worth yesterday.

H. C. Arthur, traveling passenger agent of the Texas and Pacific, was in the city yesterday.

L. D. Voak came in from Denver yesterday and spread his signature on the register at the Ellis.

J. L. Thomas, the handsome and debonair railroadman from Dallas, was in the city yesterday.

Cooper Nott, commercial agent of the Texas and Pacific and of the Cronwell Line, spent yesterday in Fort Worth.

T. H. Conner, train master of the Santa Fe with headquarters at Gainesville, was in the city yesterday and took in the matinee.

The personal in this column yesterday saying that Mr. G. C. Rivers, traveling auditor of the Fort Worth and Denver, had left for Canada, was a slight mistake and we hasten to correct it, lest Mr. Rivers' Christmas presents may go astray. Mr. Alexander Beacher, chief ticket clerk of the Denver, was the man who was mistaken for Mr. Rivers. He went to London, Canada, in response to a message announcing the serious illness of his brother.

A Tap Road.

Special to the Gazette.
BOWIE, TEX., Dec. 22.—A "tap" railroad will be built to the coal mines, work to commence some time in January. The mines are now being developed, and as the work is in the hands of eastern capitalists it will be pushed to rapid completion.

Off for Texas.

Special to the Gazette.
SUNSET, TEX., Dec. 22.—F. L. Miller and his estimable lady take their permanent leave to-day and will make Nashville, Tenn., their future home. Mr. Miller has served as railroad agent here for over two years, and has made a host of friends who regret very much to see him leave.

Henrietta Full of Confidence.

Special to the Gazette.
HENRIETTA, TEX., Dec. 22.—A gentleman who has just returned from Topeka told your reporter about a month ago that the Rock Island people had virtually decided to adopt the line run by Henrietta engineers about a year ago from this city to meet the Rock Island survey near Fort Hill, a carefully prepared profile of which was sent up to Rock Island headquarters at the time. This report seems to be confirmed by the fact that the maps issued by that company last month, and now scattered broadcast over the world, show this projected line straight to this city. We are conscious of the great advantage of our location and are confident we will get the road.

HENRIETTA.

A Rush of Home-Seekers from the Old States. Capitalists Looking Around.

HENRIETTA, TEX., Dec. 22.—Our little city has presented a busy scene the past week, owing to the near approach of the Christmas holiday and the unprecedented number of home-seekers in our midst. Nineteen families have been located here during the past ten days—ten of them from Iowa, and the others from Missouri, Georgia and Central Texas. A number of prospectors came in yesterday from Grayson and other eastern counties, and several of them are negotiating for land in this county, to which they will bring their families in the spring.

For small grain and fruit, Clay county cannot be surpassed in the state, and for corn and cotton it is not far behind the best. Land within ten miles of this city is sold at good prices as fast as placed on the market, and the timbered district in the south part of the county is filling up rapidly.

A move is on foot to establish a canning factory here in the spring.

It is rumored that a gentleman from Des Moines, Iowa, will start another bank here soon after the holidays.

Judge J. M. Hurt of the court of appeals and his wife are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Judge Stine and other relatives here.

Frank Johnson is here from New Mexico to visit his sister, Mrs. A. V. Winter, who has been very sick the past two weeks.

John W. Hopkins has gone to Galveston to accept a position in the Ball high school.

Henrietta now has two good newspapers, the Independent and the Standard. The latter just made its first appearance last week.

Speaking of newspapers, THE GAZETTE is still in the lead here, and especially since it put on its new clothes, it has taken a fresh grip in the estimation of the people, and is out of the reach of competition. As used to be said of Brady's pictures, "Everybody takes it."

M. Kard has bought four sections of land four miles north of town where he will engage in growing and handling thoroughbred and high grade cattle.

William S. Fant, a Kentucky capitalist, is here to make investments in and around Henrietta.

J. J. McAllister, proprietor of the McAllister coal mines in the territory, was here this week looking after some contemplated heavy investments in land near the city.

KILLED HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW.

A Debt of Eighteen Dollars the Cause of a Family Row at Mineola. Special to the Gazette.

MINEOLA, TEX., Dec. 22.—This evening about 6 o'clock H. M. Ridley shot and killed his brother-in-law, William McDonald. Ridley has been owing McDonald a debt of $18 for some time, and November 5 McDonald presented the bill and was put off by Ridley. Sharp words followed and a fight ensued, in which McDonald was worsted. After the fight both gave notice to each other that the matter was not settled. This evening Ridley and Henry Edgar, McDonald and D. M. Hayes started for home. When they came to where the roads separated McDonald again demanded $18. Ridley replied, saying he did not have it, but would soon, whereupon McDonald commenced advancing and abusing Ridley, who drew a pistol and fired with the above result. Ridley's first shot took effect in McDonald's right breast about one inch below the nipple. Then as McDonald turned, Ridley fired again, striking him under the shoulder. McDonald lived about twenty minutes. After the killing Ridley sent D. M. Hayes after a doctor. Then went to his father's house, where he sent for officers to come out and take charge of him. McDonald was a quiet, peaceable citizen, and his death is regretted by all who knew him.

LEFT THE KNIGHTS.

The Coopers' Assembly of Chicago Withdraws from the Knights of Labor.

CHICAGO, ILL., Dec. 22.—Coopers' Assembly No. 2399, Knights of Labor, of this city, has withdrawn from that organization and has formed a branch of the United Brotherhood of Coopers of North America. This assembly is made up largely of barrel makers in the packing house district, and is the one which made the fight for eight hours a day's work a year or two ago. They claim the influence of General Masterwork. Powderly was thrown against them at that time.

LEGLETS.

They Gazed at the Leglets—Mrs. Annie Jenness Miller's Lecture.

Revealing the Mysteries of Charming Reform Garments to an Audience of Ladies in Church.

Detroit Journal.
Mrs. Annie Jenness Miller came out before an audience of women at the Church of Our Father this afternoon and proceeded to show them how to dress themselves.

Most of those present heard her speak during the woman's congress, but on that occasion Mrs. Miller wasn't able to illustrate her remarks by actually appearing in the various strata of reformed garments which her speech dimly indicated as having an existence.

This afternoon the ladies were allowed to see, in all its perfection, the substructural garments which Mrs. Miller famous. Of course there wasn't a man present.

[No. 1, NEXT THE BODY.]

Mrs. Miller's dress, as shown this afternoon, was perfection itself. No one would have observed the absence of corsets or bustles or rods, so full of grace was the effect of dispensing with their use.

A RAINY DAY DRESS.

"Wonder what she wears under her skirts to make them hang so nicely?" murmured a belle in the back seat.
Mrs. Miller, just at that moment, as if in answer to the murmured question, said: "Leglets!" and she lifted her skirt while the crowd craned their necks. They looked just like a petticoat. Of these leglets Mrs. Miller once said: "It's a poor name, but I couldn't call them trousers or pantaloons. One lady suggested limblots and another little panties, but I couldn't stand that."

SHOWING THE LEGLETS ON.

Presently Mrs. Miller retired and came forth after a time attired in a long cloak. She flung it back and exposed the famous undergarment illustrated herewith. A hush fell upon the audience while the fair reformer stood perfectly still, looking proudly from side to side like a prima donna who had just accomplished the chief effort of the evening. The "leglets" looked just like a full skirt—only they weren't. The upper part of the dress was clad in a bodice cut square. Underneath was a silk vest reaching to the throat. After that Mrs. Miller attired herself in various garments. Among them was a bad weather dress, which, on the windiest day, will not "blow up." She also showed a carriage dress, ordinary walking dress, tea gown and several other garments.

CHICAGO ANARCHISTS.

They Fail to get an Injunction Restraining the Police from Interfering with Them.

CHICAGO, ILL., Dec. 22.—Anarchists through their lawyer, applied to Master in Chancery M. Wendles to-day for a writ of injunction restraining the police from interfering with their meeting. The motion is now being argued.

Mr. Wendles refused to recommend the issuance of an injunction without notice being given to the authorities, but suggested that the attorney go into court and apply there direct for whatever relief he needed. This advice was followed and application was made to Judge Tuley, circuit court. Judge Tuley told the attorney the only course he could follow was the usual one of taking his bill before a master, having notified the opposite parties. When the evidence was collected by the master and his recommendations made, then a bill could be filed in court and having come before him in this way he would be prepared to act. The court referred the bill to Master-in-Chancery Wendles. In the meantime the police took time by the forelock and notified the owner of the hall in which it was proposed to hold the meeting to-morrow that his license would be revoked if he permitted the meeting to take place there.

When the application was again laid before Mr. Wendles, counsel for the city asked that hearing be postponed, and the request was granted. The matter will come up again on Wednesday. Master in Chancery Wendles gave notice to the authorities that if in the meantime they interfered with any meeting of the complainants it would be at their peril.

I could get no permanent relief from any medicine prescribed by my physician. I took over a dozen bottles of your S. S. S. and in a few days I was cured. WACO, TEXAS, May 9, 1885.—Gentlemen: The wife of one of my customers was terribly afflicted with a bad skin disease, that covered her whole body. She was confined to her bed for several years by this affliction, and could not help herself at all. She could not sleep from a violent itching and stinging of the skin. The disease baffled the skill of the physicians who treated it. Her husband began finally giving her Swift's Specific, and she commenced to improve almost immediately, and in a few weeks she was apparently well. She is now a healthy, fine-looking lady, with no trace of the affliction left. Yours very truly, J. B. Starn, Wholesale Druggist, Austin Avenue.
